Councilman Dave Wheeler, local attorney and co-writer for for the "A" initiative discusses with Jim McClellan his reasons for promoting the passage for this California petition. The "A" initiative, a bill to be voted on in the June 7 Orange County election, is designed to slow development and building until such time as traffic solutions are enacted. Wheeler says no one wants to stop growth, but the rising tide of public opinion is there is a need to plan growth in order that freeways and services will be adequate for the growth. This infrastructure would be in place to handle the increase in population and housing.

This program examines the human fossil record, assumptions and possibilities of the missing link as studied by both creation scientists and evolutionists. Dr. Walter Bradley, professor at Texas A&amp;M University, says information in school textbooks for evolution is biased but presented as fact. The 1856 discovery of the Neanderthal Man, for instance, was re-classified in the 1960's as ancient man suffering from arthritis and other ailments. There have been other documented, rejected finds, but Bradley (professor of genetics) says only 1 out of 14 school textbooks reports the refuted material as such.

They discuss whether or not creation should be taught along with evolution in public schools. Dr. Kennedy contends that separation of church and state concerning the school system should not effect the teaching of creation science in schools since children are free to choose whether to accept it or not. Jim McClellan interviews Bishop George McKinney, pastor of St. Stephen's Church of God in Christ, San Diego, and author of Let The Church Be The Church and The Local Church Can Change The World. McKinney is particularly distressed over the homeless, not only in San Diego, but in the large cities of America as well. He believes the church has the responsibility of meeting the needs of the homeless, who are not only hungry, but alienated from society. He contends that government welfare cannot cope with the demand, but the church can.

	Jim McClellan interviews Dr. Robert Kowalski, author, speaker, medical consultant, and author of The Eight-Week Cholesterol Cure . He gives his history of heart disease by the age of 41 which includes a heart attack, and two by-pass surgeries. He contends that following a simple regime for about eight weeks can reduce a persons high cholesterol count. A low fat diet is essential. Oat bran is required to be a daily part of the diet as well as vitamin niacin. He cautions against using foods which have coconut and palm oils as ingredients. These oils are in most processed foods.

	Holly Anderson, Director of the Pre-Menstrual Syndrome (PMS) Treatment Center talks with Jim McClellan about pre-menstrual problems. She says that only about 1/10 of all women suffer the extreme symptoms that accompany the menstrual cycle (depression, irritability, and other types of violent behavior), yet there are those who do need sympathetic treatment. She says that progesterone is responsible for 90% of her recovery. Increased publicity on PMS is helping women to better cope with their cycle

Homeless	Miami Praise The Lord 1026-90  Pastor Isaiah and Gloria Williams interview Pastor Andy Zoppelt, Pastor and President of Community Care Christian Fellowship. One of the outreach programs that Zoppelt's ministry includes is that of a street ministry to the homeless. Community Care feeds and clothes these homeless people. Zoppelt says that the street people accept him as they see that his heart is for them. Zoppelt explains that his desire is not only to pass out the bread that nourishes the body, but to give them the "Bread of Life" that will fill the spirit man with everlasting life. 	Miami Praise The Lord 1026-90  In another segment of this program, Pastor Isaiah and Gloria Williams interview minister Nathaniel and Joyce Williams, Coordinators of the "Gospel Summer Fest." This outreach is to those who might never set foot into a church but would attend a street meeting. Last year, there were over 3,000 people in attendance, a lot of them were the homeless. At this festival, the people are feed as well as having various community needs met. The prostitutes, the alcoholics, the drug abusers, the criminals (the street people) are ministered to by people who at one time were in that very situation, but were set free by the saving and delivering power of the Lord Jesus Christ. Ron gives us the shocking statistics that there are over 30 million people living on the streets without a place to call home. In Miami there are over 5,000 people who live in the streets and in the winter that number doubles to 10,000 homeless. Maida says that she cooks for at least 400 people every Saturday but, this does not even touch near the number of people that are out there. Loving Neighbors Ministries while not able to provide homes for these people, are able to offer a place of refuge through God's Son Jesus Christ.

Jay Jones interviewed Fran Lundquist of the Sheepfold, a home for homeless women and their children. The Sheepfold takes in mothers who are having a hard time financially providing for their minor dependent children. There are 7 different phases of aid that the Sheepfold gives with one of the most important being financial management. These phases are described to viewers as steps for the women to take to become independent from the aid of Sheepfold. Fran told viewers that there are 6,000 homeless women and children in Orange County, making it the largest homeless group on the country. Viewers are told how to become involved by bringing in clothes and making financial donations to places like the Sheepfold that are trying to help the homeless.

Willie Jordan, Director of the Fred Jordan Mission in Los Angeles, was interviewed by LaVerne and Edith Tripp. Mrs. Jordan told viewers that in the past years she used to see only men, but now she sees more women and children that are on the streets. Viewers are told that there are over 1 million homeless people in America. Domestic abuse is on an epidemic rise resulting in the break-up of homes and women and children are becoming our homeless population. Mrs. Jordan outlines how the poverty cycle for children can be broken and that society is benefitted when this occurs. Viewers are encouraged to reach out and touch the needy people by helping

	John Lands, head of Orange County Rescue Mission talks with Jay Jones about the economic separation of people in Orange County. The fact that there are "two Orange Counties" as far as income is concerned is discussed. Lands states that although Orange County is one of the richest counties in California with one of the highest standards of living, they give the least to help the county's poor. The drastic lack of low-income housing, the large percentage of peoples making only minimum wage, intra-family crimes and divorce are stated as some reasons for the many homeless in the county. Low income people can simply not pull themselves out of the poverty cycle earning only minimum wages. They cannot afford to save for utilities, first/last months rent and the other necessary things needed to find a place to live. Sometimes drastic health problems with no medical coverage are the reasons that some have to live on the streets or in the mission. Lands speaks to the problem of the children of homeless people and the fact that they are suffering the worst. Lands tells viewers to get involved in helping with finances and time at the rescue mission as they serve well over 300 people daily. The Rescue Mission is attempting to help people that have low paying jobs by housing them for a specific time after they get a job so that can save for the purpose of renting living quarters.
